Rome Claims That Italians Repulse New Greek Attack In Albania

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Nov. 14. — A new Greek advance into Italian-occupied Albania and more Greek and British air attacks on Fascist bases were announced by the Greek high command today.

Reports received in Athens claimed that damage inflicted by the latest air raids had curtailed Italian military movements into the war zone by some 60 per cent, seriously obstructing Fascist efforts to rush reinforcements to the front.

An official Greek communique stated that a counter-attack by Greek forces in the Pindus mountain areas resulted in occupation of another series of strategic hills in Albania, where Hellenic warriors have been threatening the main Italian military base at Koritza.

5,000 Prisoners

(Reports received in Budapest said Italian forces had been hurled back by the Greeks in a fierce battle 5,000 feet high on the Pisoderi Mountain Pass, and that 5,000 Italian prisoners had been taken, including 1,500 severely wounded.)

On the western sector of the front, it was stated, the Italians retreated to the Kalamas river with Greek forces in pursuit.

British bombers were said to have destroyed huge oil refineries at Bari on the Italian Adriatic coast and to have bombed a large Italian vessel southeast of Valona, Albania.

State Motor Patrolmen And G-Men Make Probe Of Plant Explosions

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14—Members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police and the Federal Bureau of investigation today are probing the plant explosions at two widely separated points in Pennsylvania which caused the death of six employes.

State Motor Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams, while disclosing that his men were working in "the closest cooperation" with the G-men refused to say whether the investigation so far had disclosed sabotage.

"I cannot divulge any information on this," he stated, "nor can I disclose any orders of this department regarding the matter."

Indications were, however, that the 1500 state troopers had been ordered to be "on their toes" against subversive attempts which might be attempted in Pennsylvania in plants having government defense con-

Discuss Possible Italian Peace Move

Rome Declares Peace Rumors Are Entirely Without Foundation

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov 14—Possibility that Italy might ask Great Britain for a separate peace—especially in view of Britain's stunning victory over the Italian navy at Taranto—was widely discussed in London today, but all the talk was still in the rumor stage.

Informed British circles remained dubious about these rumors and were inclined to brand them as "wishful thinking on the part of uninformed persons."

Authoritative London quarters pointed out that all the most recent meetings of German and Italian officials have given evidence of complete solidarity in the aims and plans of the axis powers.

(Editor's note: Competent circles in Rome declared that "rumors of Anglo-Italian negotiations are entirely without foundation.")

Mt. Jackson Road Opened To Traffic

Road Improvements Started Late In Summer Have Been Completed

Improvements on the Mt. Jackson road between the city line in the Seventh ward, and the top of the Mt. Jackson hill, which were started late in the summer were completed today, and the road is now open to traffic, Highway Superintendent E. O. Reed announced today.

The curve just across the bridge over the Mahoning river was widened and the road elevated at this point to eliminate the danger of high water, and the road was also widened and resurfaced to the top of the Mt. Jackson hill.

Air Raiders Make Counter Attacks

Relatively Light Raids Are Made On London During Night

BRITISH PLANES BOMB GERMANY

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A brief new air raid alarm, London's 336th of the war, sounded in the British capital today as German raiders renewed their attacks against England.

The all-clear signal sounded a few minutes later and no incidents were reported.

British and German bombers fought their way through heavy weather during the night to carry out air attacks on each other's territory, but the Nazi assaults on England proved relatively light.

Authoritative circles disclosed the R. A. F. planes attacked various objectives in Germany proper, including a number of targets in Berlin.

(Editor's note: In Berlin German officials charged that the British planes attempted to attack the city in an effort to "disturb" the conferences between Nazi authorities and Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov.)

During the night German raiders attacked shipping off the east coast of Scotland, but coastal observers reported that anti-aircraft batteries shot down one of the Nazi planes in flames.

Berlin Reports Nine British Steamers Sunk

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Nine British steamers, totalling more than 44,000 tons, have been sunk by German bombers and a submarine, the Nazi high command announced today.

A tenth vessel, a 5,000-ton merchanter, was so badly damaged as the result of a direct bomb hit that she "probably sank" also, a communique reported.

Five of the ships, totalling 30,000 tons, were sent to the bottom by U-boat torpedoes, it was announced, while the other four sank following fierce Nazi aerial attacks on convoys.

Summarizing the sea warfare, the high command said several convoys off the English coast were attacked during yesterday's Luftwaffe operations.

LUDINGTON, Mich., Nov. 14. — A wreckage-littered Michigan shore and a gently sighing 10-mile wind today apparently marked the end of the worst Great Lakes storm since 1913, which in three furious days took a heavy toll of shipping and left at least 68 sailors dead.

The toll of seamen boosted to 155 or more the number of persons who lost their lives in the gales, snowstorms and sleetstorms which, beginning Sunday and lasting through Tuesday, swept most of northern United States. Eighty-seven persons were known dead in Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and other midwest states.

Inner Circle Of New Deal Will Seek Changes

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. — The "inner circle" of the New Deal, flushed with their part in President Roosevelt's third term victory, are drafting an ambitious program of political activities in hopes of forcing sweeping changes in the administration, it was learned today.

This New Deal faction, headed by the "brain-trust twins"—Thomas G. Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen—would like to see:

1. A new department of aviation created, with Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York City as secretary of aviation.

2. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson retire, so that Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson can be promoted to the cabinet.

3. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes retire, so that Attorney General Robert H. Jackson can be promoted to head the supreme court.

4. The earlier "smear" campaign resumed against FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in hopes he can be forced into retirement and a good New Dealer named to head his vast organization.

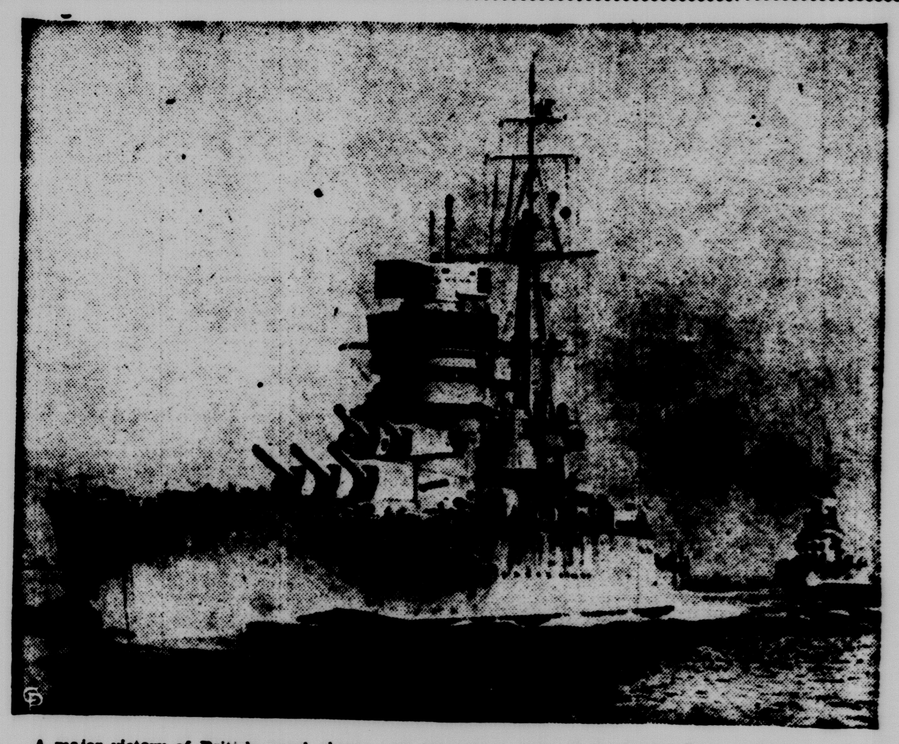
British Claim Planes Damage Italian Fleet



A major victory of British naval planes over important units of the Italian fleet at Taranto, has been announced by Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Churchill said the victory decisively "effects the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean." Pictured above is the Italian battleship Cavour. Four of this class and two of the Littoria class battleships were involved in the battle.

Britain Is Jubilant Over Historic Smash At Italian Warships

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Britain's jubilant press went wild with joy today over the now historic air attack on Italy's naval base at Taranto, which blasted two and probably three Italian battleships and put four other Fascist war vessels out of commission.

Almost no other news was able to break into London's newspapers, which devoted dozens of volumns to the dramatic coup scored by the British navy's air arm in its sizzling assault on the Italian fleet units.

Editorials urged the British navy to "keep it up" and all speculated on the possibility that units of Britain's Mediterranean fleet can now be released to convoy British merchant vessels and pursue German sea raiders.

Joyous Comment

A typical joyous comment was the headline of the London News Chronicle:

"Ring out the bells!"

Elks Hear Deputy On "Patriotism"

Three - Point Americanism Program Outlined Here By Knoblow

'PERSHING CLASS' INITIATION PLANNED

A three-point national preparedness program which the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has set in motion was outlined last night to New Castle lodge 69 by Ward M. Knoblow, Meadville, district deputy grand exalted ruler for the Elks in this area.

Knoblow was paying an official call on the lodge last night.

Speaking to members in the Elks' lodge room, the personal representative of the grand exalted ruler of Elkdom in this section, described the following three-plank program:

First: Uphold and teach Americanism and our democratic form of government.

Second: Discover and report treasonable, subversive and fifth column activities in America.

Third: Assist in the physical development of the youth of our country.

Knoblow called upon every Elk to support the national aims and declared that "Elkdom is 100 per cent American". He discussed its complete Americanism program.

Along with lodges throughout the nation, the local organization will initiate a special John J. Pershing class of candidates December 11.

Speakers last night with the district deputy were two former deputies, John Lyons of Sharon and Howard E. "Hud" Ellis of Beaver Falls. Exalted Ruler Wilbert J. Chapman presided. Guests attended from Grove City, Sharon and Beaver Falls.

Will Send Truck To Croton Station

Fire Fighting Piece Is Old, Davies Tells City Council

Public Safety Director D. O. Davies today informed colleagues during council meeting there will be a fire truck in the Croton station sometime today. However, it will not be a "first line" fire-fighting truck, he explained. After a new fire apparatus, ordered recently, arrives here another shift will be made. It is not known what truck the Croton section will receive.

Davies made his explanation after council was invited to attend a mass meeting tonight in the Croton public school.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne said the notice was too short for him to attend, explaining he had other engagements. Finance Director James L. Fink expressed a similar statement.

Safety Director D. O. Davies said that he had made efforts to re-tire the truck which formerly was housed in the Third ward and manufacturers had informed him the tires could not be obtained. The rubber on the wheels of the old machine is rotten, he asserted.

The truck which will be sent to Croton is one which has to be cranked, he said.

Italian Naval Base And Fleet Again Attacked

R. A. F. Follows Up Bombing Of Italian Fleet By Naval Planes

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A new British air attack on the Italian naval base at Taranto was announced officially today as the entire nation rejoiced over the crippling blows struck against the Italian navy there by units of the British fleet air arm.

The new attack on Taranto occurred last night and was carried out by R. A. F. bombers rather than by British naval bombers, officials in London said.

The air ministry's announcement of the latest pounding of the Italian base was made in this succinct communique:

"Information received in London from the middle east states that the R. A. F. on Wednesday night successfully attacked the docks and harbor of Taranto.

"All our aircraft returned safely."

Will Seek Additional U. S. Sea Bases

Pacific Areas To Be Included

Navy Also To Seek To Secure Naval Bases In South America

RECIPROCAL PLAN BEING SUGGESTED

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Further expansion of all strategic naval facilities and acquisition of additional sea bases in South American and Pacific areas will be proposed by the navy, it was learned today.

Strengthening of the naval establishment both in the United States and beyond the nation's continental limits is expected to comprise the chief recommendation of the report of a special board headed by Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade.

This board was appointed recently to revise the naval defense program outlined in 1938 by Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn. Many of the Hepburn board's recommendations already have been carried out by the navy, including fortifications of Alaskan areas.

Inspects West Indies

Greenslade has just returned to Washington after inspecting British West Indies possessions on which the navy soon will erect small air and naval bases.

In an effort to augment the Atlantic bases acquired from England the navy currently is discussing with several Latin American governments a plan by which the United States navy would have constant access to strategically-located South American ports.

These conversations are being carried on by naval attaches in Latin American. Although several new bases may be acquired in Latin-America, the navy is primarily interested in concluding a reciprocal agreement by which all of the 21 American republics would utilize each other's naval shore facilities.

The Greenslade report, drafting of which is about to start, also is expected to renew the navy's plea for fortification of Guam, America's tiny Pacific outpost. The report in all likelihood will follow the language of the Hepburn recommendation which said, that "Guam is at present practically defenseless against determined attack by any first class power based in the western Pacific."

Naval officials are confident congress will reverse its previous action which denied funds for fortification of Guam.

situation, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander declared in a radio brodacast:

"The results which will flow from the action at Taranto must be far-reaching.

"Not only has the situation in the Mediterranean been transformed by this single, swift naval action, but the balance of sea power throughout the oceans of the world has been decisively altered.

"I said on Nov. 2 that we would do all we could to assist Greece. Here at Taranto is the fulfillment of our pledge."

Destroyed Italian Convoy

Alexander revealed the Taranto raid was staged concurrently with a foray by light British fleet units that dashed into the straits of Otranto and virtually destroyed an Italian convoy en route to Albania.

Two of the four convoyed Italian supply ships were sunk, a third was destroyed by fire and a fourth was damaged. In addition, one of the two fleeing Italian destroyers escorting the convoy was hit by British shellfire, it was announced.

The air and naval assaults were carried out under brilliant moonlight and—at Taranto—against violent anti-aircraft fire and a balloon barrage. The blow against the Italian naval base was executed by planes from the British aircraft carriers Eagle and Illustrious, it was disclosed.

agreement on all important questions interesting to Germany and the Soviet union."

As German and Russian diplomats wound up their discussions last night, long-range British bombers attempted to raid Berlin in what Nazi circles charged was a "deliberate effort to disturb the atmosphere in connection with Molotov's visit."

End In Secrecy

The two-day talks, which were high-lighted by private conferences between Chancellor Hitler and Molotov, ended in the same secrecy that has characterized the Russo-German diplomatic undertaking since the beginning.

A communique on the visit of Molotov and the large Soviet foreign office delegation may be issued later in the day, German officials indicated.

Yesterday's lengthy conferences, during which the Russian envoy conferred with Hitler, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Reichsmarshall Hermann Wilhelm Goering, and Rudolph Hess, were climaxed last night when Molotov entertained German leaders with a dinner at the Soviet embassy.

MORE THAN 155 REPORTED DEAD IN STORM WAKE

Harvester, carrying an estimated 20 men, and the fishing tug Irene, with three men

The worst disasters were the Lake Michigan sinkings, with all hands, of the 7,200-ton freighter William B. Davock and the 4,200-ton grain carrier, Anna Minch. The Davock carried a crew of 34 and the Minch a crew of 24. Of 16 bodies washed ashore far Ludington, and Pentwater, 15 miles to the south, eleven were identified as crewmen from the Davock, and four as sailors from the Minch. One body was not identified.

Also lost were the fishing tugs Indian and Richard H. When, with a total of eight men. Wreckage from both vessels was washed ashore near Grand Haven.

Ship Breaks In Two

Two men, both cooks, were lost from the pulp carrier Novadoc, which went aground and broke in two 300 feet off Little Point Sable near Pentwater. But 17 men were saved from the Novadoc in a daring rescue by coast guardsmen and 27-year-old Clyde Cross, a fisherman. Before their rescue the Novadoc crewmen had suffered terribly while they clung for 36 hours to the drenched and battered wreckage of their vessel. At times the wind around the Novadoc reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour, preventing any rescue efforts.

Near the north tip of Michigan, 41 men were saved from the gravel carrier Sinaola, hard aground in Sac Bay. Fishermen removed 22 of the Sinaola's crew before their own craft capsized and they in turn had to be helped by the coastguard, pulling themselves hand over hand to safety on a line rigged between the Sinaola and the shore.

Tug Is Safe

The fishing tug Dornbos, previously given up for lost, put in yesterday at Charlevoix.

At Ludington, efforts were under way today to free the Pere Marquette railway's carferry City of Flint, held fast off the city breakwater with 45 safe aboard. A tug was attempting to dredge a channel for the vessel so it could be pulled loose.

Also aground, but not in danger, were the freighters Conneaut, near Epoufette, and the Frank J. Peterson, stranded on Hog Island.

tracts. Colonel Adams obtained considerable experience in dealing with the widespread sabotage of world war days.

Using 1917-18 System

The motor police head said the system being employed now to guard against mysterious fires and explosions was the same as that used in 1917-18. To guard against fires, each fire chief in the state, with the exception of those in Philadelphia and Pittsburg have been made state deputies. As a fire occurs the fire chief in that territory immediately contacts the Pennsylvania Motor Police and cooperates with them to the fullest extent.

Assigned to each of the 20 troops of motor police stationed thoroughout the state are two men specially-equipped to investigate fires. These men are part of the state motor police's bureau of fire protection.

Bombings are handled by troopers connected with the department's detective bureau. Their numbers vary from time to time.

Not Enough Officers

"All the men are trained to handle this type of work," said Adams.

There was no thought of setting up a guard over important plants engaged in government orders in Pennsylvania" said the state police commissioner.

"With only 1500 men at my disposal you can see how impossible it would be to do that?" he commented, "Anyway, the plants have their own guards."

In two explosions Tuesday three men each were killed at the Trojan Powder Company, near Allentown, and at the plant of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation, three miles from New Castle. The Allentown Company had government defense contracts, while the New Castle plant was said to be engaged solely in the production of dynamite for commercial use.

MERGE LOCAL HOSPITAL PLAN WITH PITTSBURGH ASSOCIATION

anteed 21 days hospitalization each in any one year. The 21 days may be taken in one or more trips to the hospital of his choice.

There are three sets of fees for the Pittsburgh Plan. A married man with a family who wishes semi-private care pays $1.75 per month. If he desires only ward care the cost is $1.25 per month.

For a married man and his wife the semi-private rate is $1.40 per month or $1 per month for ward care. For the single person the cost for semi-private care is 75 cents per month and for ward care 60 cents per month.

Should a private room be desired the member pays the difference between $4.50 per day and the cost of the room chosen. This applies to a person who has the semi-private plan. Where he has the ward plan and decides a private room he pays the difference between $3 per day and the daily rate of the room.

For example. A man or any of his family who is carrying a semi-private contract and wishes a $5 room would pay 50 cents per day for the privilege. A person who has a ward contract and desires a $5 room would pay the difference between that and $3 or $2 per day.

Wide Service

One advantage of the plan is that a member will be admitted to any participating hospital upon presentation of his membership card with no other credit formality and with no cash payment.

Membership includes the kind of room care specified, all meals and dietary service, general nursing care, use of the operating room as often as necessary, anesthesia (when administered by a salaried employe of the hospital) ordinary medications, ordinary dressings, plaster casts, routine laboratory service, use of X-Ray, maternity care after the contract has been in effect 12 months.

For out of town emergency or accident care the member will be admitted to any hospital on this continent or abroad at rates not to exceed the following payable by the Hospital Association, one day's stay $15 for semi-private and $11 for ward; 2 days stay $18 for semi-private and $14 for ward; 3 days stay $21 for semi-private and $16 for ward; four days or longer $6 per day for semi-private and $4.50 for ward.

Broader Coverage

The change from the local plans to the Pittsburgh Plan does not change the status of the member except to enlarge the service to him. Where he needs hospitalization in his home city he goes to any one of the local hospitals. Where he is taken ill in another city he selects a hospital which is a member of the plan.

The new plan goes into effect December 1 and full instructions are being mailed to members. Groups may join under rules the same as have existed in the local plans.

A large ammunition dump at Valona was said to have been blown up and hits were also claimed on concentrations of motor transports and on port facilities there.

At Durazzo docks, warehouses and cranes were wrecked and a power station southeast of the city was smashed, the R. A. F. communique said. Oil refineries were "successfully attacked" at Bari, it added.

Latest information in Athens indicated that two more fascist divisions totalling 30,000 men are assembled at Brindisi, Italy, ready for immediate embarkation.

Rome Report

Rome, Nov. 14—Aided by divebombers, Italian troops repulsed a new Greek attack on Fascist positions in the Corciano zone, a military bulletin reported today.

Bombs were dropped on the Greek troops all along their supply lines as far back as Prespa Lake, and in the words of a communique the attackers were "easily" hurled back.

New Italian advances in the Epirus sector were claimed. The Fascist advance in the Kalibaki zone was said to be developing successfully."

Behind the lines, Italian warplanes bombarded the airports of Papas Argo, Stoli, and Preveza.

An enemy raid on the Italian-held Albanian port of Valona resulted in six dead and 30 wounded. A raid on Durazzo, another Albanian port, reportedly resulted in no damage or casualties.

Three British planes were shot down in the course of yesterday's action. Two fell into the sea off the Pantelleria Isle while the third was brought down off Cagliri.

If our Tuesday Tea Club never accomplished anything else, at least it taught a lot of my neighbors that you can't beat LIPTON'S TEA for heart-warmin', satisfyin' flavor.

If brevity's the soul of wit, mebbe that explains why some folks look so funny in their bathing suits.

I had to laugh at the young couple down the block tryin' to save pennies on "bargain" tea. "Why save on tea," I told 'em, "when even as grand a tea as Lipton's costs less than anything you can drink except water!"

Lipton's matchless flavor comes from a blend of choice teas—each selected for some distinctive quality. This blend includes something only Lipton gives you—notable teas from Lipton's own Ceylon gardens.

RELATIONS GROUP HEAR GUNTHER OBSTLER SPEAK

Mrs. Walter W. Duff, chairman, received members of the International Relations Department of the Woman's Club in her home Wednesday afternoon to hear Gunther Obstler, student at Westminster College and assistant instructor in the Modern Language Department. The youthful speaker who had been educated in Czechoslovakia, Germany and France holds that the people of all nations have the same hopes and aspirations for the good life and for economic security. He drew upon personal experience in describing the reactions of various national groups to the rise of "the new order" under Hitler.

Pointing out the progress of civilization and the advance of culture in western Europe, recently interrupted, he contrasted the values of democracy versus dictatorship. To the question of his opinion of American democracy he recognized that the free government founded by Washington and Jefferson establishing free institutions, "liberty and justice for all" to be far beyond any political conception of the old world. He sounded a warning to guard against attack and sabotage from within.

A social period followed during which Mrs. John Elliott, president, presided at an attractively appointed tea table.

DON'T BELITTLE CONSTITUTION

THE attacks on our constitutional form of government in recent years have been many and varied. A great many of them have been based on the argument that the constitution, at least as interpreted, tends to work against the interests of the people. The inevitable result of these arguments has been to lead the nation away from a government of laws, and toward a government of men.

But the constitution still stands as a bulwark between the individual and his government—as a protection for the minority against the possible abuses of the majority. A particularly important example of this has just occurred in the state of Oregon.

Some two years ago the voters of Oregon, inflamed by the racketeering tactics of a few union leaders, which resulted in their imprisonment for long terms, passed a law which, among other things, stringently restricted the right of labor to picket. Labor lawyers at once went to the courts. And finally, the Supreme Court of the State, with but one Justice dissenting, held the law null and void, on the grounds that it violated the constitutional provision concerning the exercise of free speech.

The Court held that even the people of a sovereign state cannot pass a law which is in any way a contravention of the Constitution which governs us all—that the minority has rights which a majority, no matter how great, can never take away. That decision is based on the very spirit of all that our our kind of government stands for. It illustrates the oppression that would be the fate of minorities if the Constitution were weakened or destroyed. And finally, it illustrates how the Courts, working under a government of laws, not a government of men, protect the "common man" when his cause is just.

The Constitution stands for liberty for all, justice for all, inviolable rights for all. It guarantees a way of life which has been crushed in most of the world.

STRANGE WORKINGS OF FATE

In what strange statute in the cosmic scheme of things does Fate find its rule of action? The query is prompted by the death of Arthur Rostron, Cunard commodore.

One night while Rostron was in command of the Carpathia and wireless was new, the operator of the wireless set, amateurish and limited in range, decided to go to bed. It was thirty minutes after midnight. Before the operator shut off his receiving set he bent over to unlace his shoes. He had not removed his earphones.

In that instant he got the call: "SOS Titanic calling. We have struck ice and require immediate assistance—." The Carpathia, reaching the scene an hour and a half after the great new liner had gone under, rescued 700 persons.

All would have been saved had the Carpathia been twenty-five miles nearer the disaster when the wireless operator received that call which in another minute he would have missed entirely.

ON GUARD FOR NATIONAL UNITY

Now that the 1940 election is a matter of history, it is the duty of every patriotic citizen of the United States to dedicate his heart and his physical being to the best interests of America.

There will be hours and days within the next few months which will try men's souls. The terrible conflagration in Europe is spreading steadily. The plains and mountains of Greece seem a long distance away but the war has been brought by interests which are seeking to bring this country into the conflict in one way or another and perhaps to bring about the sending of our boys to Europe or Asia or the involvement of the United States in a grim sectional strife in some form, the outlines of which we only yet barely perceive.

These subversive interests have no partisan politics in the United States. They are concerned not with candidates because American public domestic affairs have no interest for them. Their hearts and minds are centered solely on Europe and its affairs. Instead of the welfare of the United States, it is the future domination of Europe and the Old World which concerns them entirely.

That is why America must be on guard during the next few months. The propaganda efforts from across the seas will become more strenuous than ever, and the plotting and planning within our own borders will be accelerated at the same time.

Americans want most of all to be let alone in peace to work out their own salvation. To do this we realize that Uncle Sam must have a national defense which renders us safe from attack on both the Atlantic and Pacific shores. That becomes our first duty to our first task now—to see that America is properly armed, to see to it in every way possible that the threat of war is kept from our shores.

There is little danger of an invasion now from without. There is little danger we will be attacked by a foreign foe until we are ready, if we set about the task of arming ourselves for defense efficiency and effectivity.

But it will be the motive and aim of those, inside the gates, to try to block the creation of such a defense, to promote sabotage and class hatred to the point where the work of building a machine for defence will break down. That is something we cannot afford to have happen to us. For that reason it is all the more important that Americans be on guard during the next few months, to see that the work of defending ourselves is progressing smoothly and to see that we are not involved in any foreign war, but are adequately equipped to defend ourselves if and when we are attacked.

Some think that Petain of France could be set up now on a pedestal in the park as he is already stuffed.

You can't fool all of the people all of the time, and in a political democracy where the majority prevails, all are unnecessary.

Russia is buying cotton from the United States. Stalin will need a lot of handkerchiefs to cry into if he keeps on playing around with Hitler.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOME PLAY AIDS ARITHMETIC

To some children, even in high school, common fractions prove very difficult and confusing. Nevertheless, this section of arithmetic can be made very easy.

The child who grows up in a home where from early years he is always making and creating something with his hands, will usually find fractions fascinating. The tot of four or five, drawing, cutting, pasting, with crayons, paper and cardboard learns, even without being taught, the meaning of 1-2, 1-3, 1-4 and the like as he measures, whether by folding, estimating or using a rule. When this child makes paper dolls, cuts and fits doll clothes, or makes costumes for himself, measuring in inches, feet or yards, changing of measures from inches to feet or feet to inches, becomes a natural, easy, interesting experience.

Learning At Play

So also as this child adventures at baking and cooking, he soon gets acquainted with the relative simple units of weights and measures and easily and naturally translates from quarts to pints and vice-versa. By following a recipe, fraction symbols and concepts grow familiar so that, without being taught, the youngster will engage in rather difficult transfer values from one unit to another.

Especially stimulating to the child in the use of different units of measures and of fractions is working with tools in making things from wood. Both my boys from about the age of three onward through high school, developed a work shop, saving money with which to buy more and more good tools. Long before they had any manual training at school, each had made for pleasure many things out of wood.

It was always fascinating to me as they drew and figured out dimensions, to see and hear them counting out the fractional parts and proportions. An outstanding practice they normally had was that of ratio.

Rating Ratio

These boys have told me that constant use of the concept of ratio so often needed in high school mathematics and physics was very easy to them whereas they observed that some classmates had serious difficulty over ratio. Physics teachers in high school and college have informed me that the concept of ratio and its correct use is more often lacking in the student than any other arithmetic concept or skill.

By writing me at 235 East 45th Street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it, you may receive a sheet which describes self-teaching booklets in arithmetic which Mrs. Myers and I worked out, including such items as addition, subtraction, long division, fractions, percentage. In like manner you may receive the sheets of 100 addition and subtraction facts every child should know by heart by the time he is nine or ten.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LISTEN TO ALL

It is not to exercise their lungs nor to drain their inkwells dry that speakers and newspapers in Rome, Madrid, Tokyo and Berlin have been redoubling their invective, advice and warnings to the United States.

Behind it lies a well-thought-out purpose and plan. They will take it for granted that many citizens of this country will be irritated or angered by such a flood of unasked-for advice, but they believe, or at least hope, enough others will be sufficiently intimidated or alarmed so as to embroil the whole country in a bitter controversy, angrily disputing where the boundary lines of America's zones of interest should begin or end.

Clearly, this is a legitimate point of debate in a free country such as ours. Conflicting points of view are inherent in a free nation and in a free press whose job it is to present just such views. Admittedly, it may sometimes lead to confusion and doubt when the citizen, in a day, encounters two—and sometimes three—sides to a critical question. But for all that, there is full compensation in the fact that he remains the best informed, most widely read citizen in the world today. In this lies the surest guarantee that from the divergent opinions of an enlightened public will come the best and wisest course of action, one tempered by debate, discussion and a thorough airing of facts. But this involves a grave responsibility on every person today—the responsibility of keeping himself intelligently informed, of courteously hearing the other fellow's viewpoint, of keeping his temper on leash and giving his paitence full rein, and of guarding against all and every appeal to unreasoning hatred and hysteria.

If we honestly discharge these responsibilities, even though we may disagree with each other, we shall safely escape that Kilkenny cat's brawl of violent quarrels and internal disunity into which our not-so-well-wishers across the sea would like to goad us.

The word CONFIDENCE means more now than any other word.

A man went to consult a lawyer. He told the circumstances in detail. "Do you think I have any chance of winning my case?" the prospective client asked. "Yes, I congratulate you now." "Then I will not sue. I told you the opponent's side."

I've heard love songs from A to Z!
I've had them all
Tried out on me!
I've wept my tears—and had my fun—
There isn't much
I haven't done!
Ive been a co-ed—
Sailed the sea—
I've pounded on typewriter keys.
I've called all joys
And sorrows
Mine.
I've even rated in the line!
But now my life is in a

And things are dead and dark and dull!
For I'm heart-whole and fancy free—
And that's a

A West Side man was an applicant for a job and was undergoing questions propounded by the boss. "Have you the firmness of character that enables a person to do his duty in the face of ingratitude, criticism and heartless ridicule," asked the boss. "Well", said the applicant, "I cooked for a camping party last summer."

Good Taste

Pat. U. S. Patent Office

"Is it ever necessary for a man to rise when another man enters the room in which he is seated?" asks a letter signed Anthony.

My answer: Yes, there are several circumstances that would necessitate your doing so: (1) If you are his social host, no matter whether he is calling at your home, apartment or studios with or without an invitation from you. (2) If he is very distinguished man—the president or one of the high dignitaries of his administration, or a governor or bishop. (3) If he is of very veterable age.

While you are seated at your desk, in your office, it is unnecessary for you to rise to greet any man in class one. Even for a woman employee or colleague you need not rise. But you should always rise to greet a woman visitor no matter whether she were calling purely on business or how humble she might be.

In other cases, whenever in doubt, take the chance of being over-cautious rather than rude.

Other Readers' Questions Answered

Question: At an informal church wedding, would it be in good form for an older brother to give the bride away in place of the father, who does not wish to take part in the ceremony? In this case would it be proper for the bride to have a maid of honor and a best man in attendance? Would two ushers be enough or should ushers be omitted?—K. K.

Answer: Giving the bride away is a function usually assumed by her father; but if for some reason he should not, cannot or will not perform it, then the bride's eldest brother may do so.

In this latter case, she may certainly have a maid of honor and a best man who are usually in attendance at even the smallest and most informal weddings. You may have ushers too, if you expect sufficient guests to warrant them.

Question: Is it proper to address the inner invelope of a wedding invitation? If all members of the family are to be invited to the church and reception, should one invitation be addressed to Mr. and Mrs. X and a separate one to each of the children?—Cynthia

Answer: The full and and address of the person or persons to whom it is sent should be put on the outer envelope. The inner envelope should contain the name only. A joint invitation should be address to husband and wife....a separate one to each adult member of the family.

BIG TURNOVER

Business was brisk for the young man who got a dollar from an uncle.

"I bought a tricycle for the $1, traded it for an electric motor, traded the motor for a battery and traded the battery for a drawing board," he said.

"Then I traded the drawing board for a model airplane, traded the airplane for a saw and swapped the saw for a switch for an electric train. Then I sold the switch for $1."

"But you didn't make anything," objected the boy's father.

GENTLE HINT

We were out in the cattle-range section the other day and it was quite interesting talking with the chaps who produce beef out there. It seems they also kick through with a story now and again. For instance, there is the one about the rancher who never had a harsh word to say about anyone.

He had been losing a lot of cattle and suggested rustlers. He made an investigation and became very thoughtful. Finally he went to see a neighboring rancher.

"Jim," he said, "I do wish you'd quit leaving hot branding irons around where my cows can lay down on them."

What's What At A Glance

Party Unity Is Now Being Sought
Undercurrent Of Doubt Existant
Many Democrats Against New Deal

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Getting Democrats and Republicans to unify behind our national government, now that the election's over, doesn't look so difficult at present. Leaders of the winning element are at great pains to show that they've no intention to be overbearing. Leaders of the defeated contingent, on the opposite hand, are doing their best to behave like first-rate losers.

Nevertheless one notes in Washington, where the two groups political managements are concentrated, an undertone of doubt as to the idea's satisfactory workability in practice.

Democrats and Republicans might harmonize fairly well in such an emergency as today's if the issue between them were a mere matter of their respective party labels. The difficulty sensed by some competent observers of the situation is that, irrespective of partisan considerations, rival basic philosophies are in conflict.

During the campaign it frequently was pointed out that President Roosevelt and Candidate Willkie were pretty much in agreement on general principles. They certainly seemed so. Without mentioning one another's names they exchanged numerous exceedingly mean utterances, but it's understandable that, the fight being over, they may be able to unify quite amiably. But will the hitherto anti-New Deal Democrats in the senate and the house of representatives join in the unification? That's the question I hear being asked in Washington.

Effective Control?

If the Democratic party label signified conclusively President Roosevelt, so labeled, has had since 1932 an overwhelming majority in congress. However between the extremely small Republican minority and the anti-New Deal Democrats, he's had anything but effective control over the legislative chambers.

Now will the still remaining Republicans unify under his leadership?

And will the anti-New Deal Democrats fall in line?

Take Senator Carter Glass of Virginia for instance. This far he's fought F. D. R.'s major policies like sixty—harder than most Republicans. He opposed a presidential third term nomination for all he was worth. He voted for F. D. though at any rate he said he was going to do so, deeming himself under obligations to acquiesce in his party conventions presidential selection. Is Senator Glass going to be, henceforward, any more a pro-New Dealer than he was previously?

The same query fits the cases of such others as Senators Byrd, Clark, George, Tydings and Wheeler. Will they all say, "Well, F. D. R. got this popular mandate so we've got to indorse whatever he specifies?"

I hear a good many skeptical answers.

Another thing, unification talk alarms a sizable proportion of public men, and perhaps a share of the rank and file of voters. It hints at a merger of the two big parties into one, which sounds a trifle totalitarian. Germany, Italy, Russia and up-to-date Spain have one-party systems. You've no place to go if you don't belong to that party.

Of course that isn't what out unificationers are proposing. Their thesis is that the world's in an awful state and that solidarity here is essential for our protection. Yet there's a bit of sentiment to the effect that we don't want too much of it.

Realignment

The fact is plenty of good judges say that what we're working up to isn't a single party but a realignment of parties. The theory is that Democrats and Republicans alike are split two ways apiece and ought to be sorted out afresh into so-called liberals and so-called conservatives, or to put it in modern language, into New Dealers and anti-New Dealers.

And to be sure it's ridiculous to have a statesman like Carter Glass voting for Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom he's opposed to, as against Wendell Willkie, whose candidacy he was in favor of just because their labels were transposed.

Away back in 1924 when the elder Senator Robert M. LaFollette ran presidentially on the Progressive ticket, I had a notion that the party realignment was being effected, but it didn't take then and it hasn't yet. It's bound to do so sooner or later.

When our new congress gets together in 1941 we'll see how much unity we've arrived at.

We teach that freedom's better far

Newspaper Incident

Washington, Nov. 14.

THE case of Mr. Paul Mallon, the newspaper columnist who was told last Friday he would be barred from future White House press conferences, is completely revealing as to the attitude of the Administration toward the newspapers. Also it makes it timely to discuss the whole general subject.

ACTUALLY, there is nothing new about this Administration's attitude. There is always has been always will be and always should be a natural enmity between politicians and newspapers. It will be a bad day, indeed for the Republic—if the time ever comes, which is not likely—when all enmity vanishes and the politicians and the newspapers get in bed together. Primarily, the chief function of the newspaper is to report and to criticize. This is not to say that either of these things is always done well and fairly. It is to say that in the main the percentage of efficiency and fairness is high. Otherwise the newspapers would suffer instead of thriving under political abuse. And they do thrive.

NEWSPAPER criticism is an inevitable accompaniment of public office and ought to be. If public officials were not under constant critical examination by the newspapers, there would be no check on them at all. Literally, there is nothing between the people and unrestrained abuse of power except the press. The press is the only real channel of information for the people and the only restraining influence upon the politicians. But it is not human to expect the politicians to love the press.

VERY often politicians and newspapermen are personal friends. Frequently between them there is mutual liking and respect. Occasionally there is a tie which is neither wholesome nor clean, but in the main their relations are well defined and their interests rarely identical. The newspapermen ought to be—and generally is—concerned with printing the whole truth. That's his business, and it is to his material interest not to fall down on it. On the other hand the politician—even the best of them—want the truth told in print only when it is pleasant reading for their side and to their advantage. There are exceptions to the rule, but generally speaking there is always that gulf between them.

IT is natural for the newspapers to be the target of the criticized politician. There are only two ways to answer newspaper criticism—one, if the statements made are false, the politician can sue for libel; but if the statements made are true, there is nothing to do except denounce the press as a liar, accuse it of unfairness and attribute to it low and sinister motives. The latter, of course, is the method adopted ninety-nine per cent of the time. Political denunciation is the diet upon which every virile and independent newspaper has always fed and thrived.

THE truth is the strength and influence of a newspaper is often measured by the violence with which the politicians denounce it. The impotent paper is never denounced. It is the strong ones upon which the attack is made, and instead of diminishing reader confidence and support these are enhanced. Every experienced publisher and editor knows these facts. Those with clearest vision begin to worry only when the politicians appear to be transferring their hatred to their competitor. This Administration's attitude toward the press differs from that of other Administrations only because the President personally has gone to such extraordinary length to intensify the hostility.

IT is not only that he has indicted the press as a whole and inspired attacks by his aides but he has set a precedent by endeavoring to discipline individual correspondents whose reports did not please him. A good many instances of this could be given. On the other hand the more ardent New Deal journalists have been singled out for special Administration favors. Some have been put on the pay roll. Some have members of their family cushioned in soft jobs. Some have been rewarded by news tips; others by special White House supper invitations.

BUT those who have succumbed to these and other forms of flattery are in a minority and well marked. In the main, the newspapermen in Washington have maintained their independence, just as have the newspapers they represent, which is the real trouble so far as the Administration is concerned. It riches to control them. That fact is back of the Administration attitude, and every informed person knows it. It is strange its futility does not become apparent to the smarter Administration advisers, curious that they do not see that their kind of denunciation is an asset, not a liability. The case of Mr. Mallon is a fine illustration.

Minor Matters At Session Of School Board Wednesday

Bills Approved For $6578.07 —Report Is Made By Superintendent Green

Bills in the amount of $6578.07 were approved by the New Castle School Board Wednesday night when it met in the administration building on East street. The bills represented purchases of needed materials during the month.

Miss Mary Virginia Roberts was reinstated in the school system as clerk in the Mahoning and West Side schools. She replaces Mrs. Betty Anderson who has resigned. Miss Roberts was formerly in the system but was temporarily retired when a reduction in force was effected.

In the report of Superintendent Clyde C. Green to the board Wednesday night he showed that only two cities in Pennsylvania of the first and second class school districts had a higher percentage of college certificates among school teachers than New Castle. The two cities are Lancaster and Hazelton.

The average of college certificates in first class districts is 44.1 per cent. In second class districts 53.3 per cent. New Castle has 65.5 per cent. In 1920-21 only 16.3 per cent of the local teachers held college certificates.

Dr. Green informed the board that the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, with the approval of the State Health Department and State Department of Health will soon start upon the tuberculosis test for all students in the 9th-10th-11th and 12th grades of the city.

The Athletic Conncil informed the board that a two year contract for Coach P. H. Bridenbaugh had been agreed to subject to board's approval. The matter was held over until the December meeting.

City Treasurer C. C. McKibben asked and received permission to send out delinquent tax notices in December instead of waiting until January when his force will be busy.

Talk of America's weakness doesn't mean we can't lick any other country. We just feel uneasy because we aren't prepared to lick all the world at once.

Clever Impersonations Are Called For In Roles In Friday Presentation

Maxine Conway Lucy Ann Rubert

Maxine Conway and Lucy Ann Rubert are cast for parts in the senior high school comedy, "Janey's One-Track Mind." While both parts are minor, they call for clever impersonations. Alice, the family maid, played by Maxine Conway, and "Bummie" the neighborhood tomboy, played by Lucy Ann Rubert, have a great deal to do with getting Janey's mind off on a side-track that turns out to be the "main line" for her.

Both girls are seniors and are prominent in high school activities. Maxine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Conway, of Clenmore boulevard, and Lucy is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Rubert of Cherry street.

Road Department Ready For Winter

Snow Fences Being Erected And Cinders Hauled To Strategic Points

Preparations for winter are well under way in Lawrence county by the State Highway Department, Superintendent E. O. Reed stated today.

Snow fences are being erected at points where roads are apt to become drifted and trucks are now engaged in hauling cinders to strategic points in the county, where they will be available in case of icy weather.

The Great Game Of Politics

UNQUESTIONABLY the action taken against him was at the direction of Mr. Roosevelt. No Secret Service man or secretary would have done such a thing on his own accord. As he went into the White House he was stopped by the Secret Service man and told he could not attend the conference. The secretary, Mr. McIntire, later told him it was because of "inaccuracies" in his column, without specifying the inaccuracies. Mr. Mallon left the White House with the understanding he would not be permitted to come in again. However, when the New York Times sent a man to get the facts with a view of printing them, the statement was made that it was "all a mistake" and Mr. Mallon was telephoned to "forget it."

THE net result of course, is to benefit Mr. Mallon. It advertises him as a writer independent of White House influence and yet important enough to have the President of the United States attempt personally to discipline him. And if the White House had gone through with the disciplinary order it would have made no difference. It isn't essential for Mr. Mallon to attend the White House press conferences. It didn't mean a thing to him to be barred from a "conference" which the presence of 200 men makes seem more like a mass meeting.

History Gives Peculiar Place To Numbers, Professor Says

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14.—When number 158 was drawn out of the army draft fishbowl in Washington, those three digits took their place among a long list of numbers which have been significant in the development of America, Dr. Russell J. Ferguson, associate professor of history at the University of Pittsburgh, says.

Many numbers have flashed across the horizon of American history, each carrying with it a singular meaning and connotation to the historian.

Dr. Ferguson cited first the coincidental relationship between 158 and the first number of the World War draft—258. But neither of these numbers caused anything like the excitement nor any of the furore of 329 during the candidacy of James A. Garfield for president.

Garfield was accused by his opponents of having made $329 in "shady" bond dealings with the "credit mobilizer", and as a result the number 329 was chalked, scratched and painted on sidewalks, buildings and fences in districts opposed to him.

Perhaps the most stirring use of numbers, Dr. Ferguson says, came in the patriotic cry of the early 1800's—"54-40 or fight!" This slogan was used to bolster the American side of a boundary dispute with England over the northwestern area of the United States.

In 1800, the faltering Federalist party hailed 13 Pennsylvania senators as "the stalwart 13", in recognition of the efforts of the 13 men to block the unanimous election of Thomas Jefferson.

"Sixteen-to-one" was another numerical milestone in American history, used in the famous Bryan and McKinley silver campaign issue at the turn of the century.

The "four-fifths compromise" in the constitutional question of counting slaves for proportionate representation in the house of representaitves is another example, Dr. Ferguson cites, of how numbers may suddenly find themselves in the national spotlight.

With the rising of public consciousness of the need for national defense, the American slogan of the late 1790's—"Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute" is brought to mind.

When the gold rush came and thousands of Americans left for the west, still another number left the realm of mathematics and entered history. We still refer to the whole group of migrants as "the 49ers".

Numbers have often been used in a derogatory sense to belittle an opponent. Adversaries fo James Buchanan gave him the title of "10-cent Jimmy"; foes of the Supreme Court have dubbed that body the "nine old men", and Woodrow Wilson caused quite a storm when he protested that his peace plan was being defeated by "11 willful senators".

One can hardly think of Wilson without recalling his far-reaching "14 points", and just as memorable a part of reconstruction days following the Civil War was the term "40 acres and a mule".

American patriotism is kept alive even today, Dr. Ferguson concludes, by the use of numbers. A good American has "the spirit of '76," is against a "fifth column" and pledges allegiance to "one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Grieving Parents Seek Offsprings

Letters From Distant Cities Ask Information About Torso, Skeleton

There are many grief stricken parents throughout the United States, some of whom have written Chief of Police W. G. McMullen inquiring for information concerning the torso and skeleton found in the swamp near West Pittsburg.

However, the chief stated today, that, so far, none of the persons reported missing answer the description of the torso found one year ago. The last remains found was a headless skeleton several weeks ago.

Chief of Police W. G. McMullen said he realizes the anguish suffered by parents who seek loved sons who either have gone astray, met death and were unidentified or have failed to keep parents posted as to their whereabouts. "We answer all letters and provide as much information as we can," the chief asserted.

1. I MEAN IT . . . because I've certainly been a "feather-brain", up to now! For ages, people have been telling me how I could save money by buying GOOD LUCK Margarine instead of the spread we've been using for bread! Well, I finally woke up . . . And today . . .

2. YOU SHOULD HEAR my husband and youngsters go on about the marvelous, fresh, country flavor of GOOD LUCK. It's simply grand . . . and it's grand for them, because GOOD LUCK is filled with food-energy, plus plenty of health-giving Vitamin A. GOOD LUCK'S goodness, you see, is natural . . . its freshness is guaranteed by dating, on every package. No other spread, at any cost, has that "Dated-for-Freshness" guarantee!

3. BUT WHY WAIT until you feel like kicking yourself . . . as I did! Get a pound of GOOD LUCK tomorrow. It's the most wonderful spread you've ever tasted. And when you use it for cooking and baking, you'll think you're THE home-economics expert of the town! Last—but far from least—think, THINK, of the savings you can show your husband when he foots the bills.

GOOD LUCK is UNCONDITIONALLY guaranteed to give complete satisfaction . . . or your money back

LONDON, Nov. 14.—As the wail of an air raid siren echoed through the great chapel of historic Westminster Abbey, the ashes of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain were buried today in the hallowed resting place of Britain's great.

The brief service was attended by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Chamberlain's successor, and members of the war cabinet.

Just as the service was concluding in the hushed sanctuary of the Abbey, the sirens wailed the "all clear" note of one of the morning raids.

Chamberlain's body was cremated yesterday.

Midland Plant "Wildcat" Strike May Close Plant

S. W. O. C. Regional Director Says Strike Action In Violation Of Contract

(International News Service)

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 14.—A complete shut-down of the Midland plant of the Crucible Steel Company was threatened today as C. I. O. steel workers refused to return to work until their grievances had been "ironed out, once and for all."

Company officials, on the other hand, have taken the stand that their contract with the steel workers organizing committee calls for peaceful settlement of grievances and that no grievances of the workers will be discussed until they return to the mills, where furnaces have been banked and United States and British governments face loss of the much-needed armament steel for some time to come.

Clinton S. Golden, regional director of the SWOC, reported that the strike action "is in violation of the SWOC contract with the company" and urged the men to return to work.

He added that he had been assured by the president of the company that as soon as the men returned to their jobs, he would meet with duly authorized committees to discuss grievances.

Some 4,000 men, in all branches of the plant, were affected by the "wildcat" strike. John Thornton, treasurer of the Midland SWOC local, said he doubted whether an early settlement could be made with the company and work resumed on the armament materials.

Among other things, the men are seeking an upward revision of the wage scales in some departments. So far there has been no violence of any form.

Season with salt and pepper vegetables added to roasting meats. Otherwise the vegetables will be flat when served, as not enough seasonings will cook out of the meat to flavor them.

Wallace Will Go To Mexico

Vice-President Elect To Be Envoy To Mexican Inauguration

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—President Roosevelt's naming of Vice-president-elect Henry A. Wallace as special envoy to the inauguration of Mexican President Manuel Avila Camacho was interpreted in official circles today as the beginning of an effort to clear up the many problems that vex American-Mexican relations and bring closer military and political cooperation between the two neighbors.

In addition, the president's move was reviewed as a clear-cut indication that the administration has recognized Avila Camacho's claim to the Mexican presidency and has turned thumbs down on all pretentions of his rival, Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, now in the United States. Both men claimed victory at the polls last summer. Almazan stated recently that he still intended to be inaugurated.

Wallace will take no part in actual negotiations of outstanding problems with the new Mexican administration, it was said. These will be entrusted to the regular ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Daniels, and to Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington. But the vice president-elect is expected to establish an atmosphere of goodwill during his visit to Mexico City which, it is hoped will oil the diplomatic machinery for the actual negotiations.

It was also reported without official confirmation that Wallace may make a tour of other Latin-American countries before his inauguration next January.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Says Spies Are Informing Nazis Of Plane Trips

American Flyer Says German Reception Committee On Hand Every Time

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 14—Spies are keeping Germany well informed about the flight schedule of planes between Canada and England, according to Mark L. Arnold, who has flown eleven planes across the Atlantic.

Arnold, who stopped here enroute to Seattle, said today that each time he neared land in England, a Nazi "reception committee" was there to greet him. Other members of the group of American pilots ferrying planes to Britain have had similar experiences, he said.

"We feel this is directly traceable to highly organized fifth columns activities in Canada," the flyer said. "Transocean trips are arranged with utmost secrecy. Only one other person beside the pilot, knows the place of destination, and not until we are actually ready to take off are we given our instructions."

Arnold said the flyers are paid a flat rate and a bonus if they land their planes undamaged. He lost his bonus on the last trip. He was attacked as he was preparing to land. The plane was badly damaged, but he managed to land.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

COD-LIVER OIL FALLACIES

Some people have the idea that cod-liver oil is needed only by children or babies. Nothing could be farther from the truth, for adults get as much good out of it as anyone. I take cod-liver oil myself, and when a doctor takes his own prescription it must be good.

A great many false ideas have grown up about cod-liver oil. One of these is that it is such vile-tasting stuff that very few people can take it without objectionable reactions. Of course, that isn't true at all. I'll grant you that years ago they hadn't learned as much about refining it as they have now, and then the fishy taste was a little bit overpowering. But now it is different, science has made such strides in the refinement of the product after it is taken from the cod, that today it is almost tasteless.

I think parents, remembering their struggles with this unrefined oil some years ago, often unwittingly turn their children against it. When they give it to the child, they often make an involuntary grimace, or they give a shudder. Children notice these things and are affected accordingly. I have even had mothers write me demanding how we give that horrible cod-liver oil to the Quintuplets. If we had adopted the attitude ourselves that it was horrible stuff, I don't suppose the Quins would be taking it.

The Quins have had it every day since they were two months old. At first we gave them viosterol which is a concentrated form of cod-liver oil. A few months later we started giving them the ordinary form of the oil and now they wouldn't miss their oil. In fact, they will go and take it themselves without any admonishing by the nurse. In winter, and fall, they take a tablespoonful morning and evening. In summer this is cut to a teaspoonful. I know some people say that it isn't necessary in summer, but I think it has been beneficial for the Quints.

When we first started giving them viosterol, we gave them a little more than the dose called for. After all, this was no ordinary case, so we adopted extraordinary methods. Months afterwards when we studied the babies' joints under the X-ray we discovered where that etra viosterol went. We found that it had caused an extra amount of calcium to form on the bones, making them stronger. That is one of the things it has done for the Quintuplets.

My advice to parents is to give cod-liver oil before meals. If the child doesn't like it "straight" then give it to him in orange juice. This will camouflage the taste for him. Another way of getting it down easily is to put a little salt on the tip of the tongue before taking the oil.

Taking of the oil before meals is quite important. The reason is that cod-liver oil isn't digested in the stomach. Like all oils and fats, the digestive processes for it go on in the lower bowel. So, if it is given before food is taken it goes right to the place of digestion. But if it is taken with food, then it may remain in the stomach until the food is digested and passes along. While it is being held in the stomach, there is apt to be regurgitation, and when this happens, the child tastes the oil again and again.

I have known children who had no difficulty getting cod liver oil down the first time. But after it had come up on them several times because it was taken after meals, they just couldn't take it any more. So they were turned against one of the best medicines and foods we know.

Anyone who is skinny and run down should take cod-liver oil. It is good for anyone with a chronic lung condition. Those inclined to tuberculosis in particular receive great benefit from it. Even though you feel well and have no colds, it is a great precaution to begin taking cod-liver oil in the fall of the year. It will build you up, keep you from taking most colds, and greatly cut down the severity of the colds you do happen to contract.

Slippery Rock High Band To Get Uniforms

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Nov. 14.—The Slippery Rock high school band will be equipped with thirty complete uniforms by November 21. The first shipment of twenty-five hats and capes was received soon after school began this year. The second order which includes five complete uniforms and vests has recently been sent. The hats are of military type, black with orange braid and pompon. The capes are also black with trimming of orange satin and the letters S. R. H. S. in black. The drum majorette's outfit is made of black satin with gold braid trim, a gold and black shako, and high-heeled, black leather boots.

According to Miss Pauline Haas, the director, the purchase of new uniforms has been made possible to a large extent through the co-operation of the community clubs with the school in financing the project. The Women's club has already raised $40.00 for the band by holding a benefit party at the College Hut.

In addition to this, the Women's club also co-operated with the Rotary club in giving a benefit. A bingo benefit has been arranged by the firemen. The P. T. A., the American Legion, and American Legion Auxiliary have already contributed sums of money. A new organization, the Band-Mothers' club, was formed at the beginning of the school year to aid the band in acquiring new uniforms. These mothers of the band members have sponsored a bake sale and are planning other activities to raise money. Slippery Rock is united in this community project.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

tresses Need For Total Roll Call Enrollment

rges Everyone Be Given An Opportunity To Join Red Cross Now

LAY GREAT ROLE IN DEFENSE MOVE

In a message to the Lawrence unty Chapter, American Nation- Red Cross, National Chairman rman H. Davis stresses the need r one of the largest membership nrollments the chapter has ever pted.

His message follows:

"It is hardly necessary for me to stress the imperative need for a total Roll Call this November.

"Because we feel that community responsibility for membership should at this time be assumed by the American people themselves, there has been no assignment of effort-limiting quotas. Your obligation is to give each person in every community the opportunity to join.

"We must forge an even stronger organization to keep pace with adequate defense preparedness. We must stand ready, in case of need, to discharge our primary charter obligation," . . . to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war." In the event of a national emergency, we also must continue our help to civilians.

"Each day our Red Cross plays a more vital part in the interlocking designs of national defense. Consider our medical-social service for convalescents in military hospitals. Of paramount importance are the morale-building work and friendly counsel of trained Red Cross personnel who serve at military stations as liason between the enlisted man and his family. We have enrolled thousands of Red Cross nurses and medical technologists for service with armed forces. We stand ready to supply surgical dressings and non-standard medical equipment. We are undertaking arrangements to provide volunteer donors so that stocks of life-giving blood plasma may be immediately available if required.

"These are but a few Red Cross services directly related to our armed forces; it is likewise necessary to increase the scope of our regular program to meet the acid test of national crisis. I refer to all phases of our work, but particularly to the part first aid and home nursing instruction would play in the event of mass injuries.

"To be certain that Roll Call returns will be sufficient to underwrite our expanding program for 1941, I suggest that the 24th Roll Call be a humanitarian crusade—and American crusade to meet America's own needs."

Serious Fire At East Brook

A large fire causing considerable damage, occurred on the Harold McClelland farm in East Brook on Tuesday evening, when his three story chicken house, burned to the ground, taking 1200 chickens, their garage, which was in the center of the building, and the feed room. All modern electrical equipment was also completely lost.

The origin of the blaze has not yet been determined, but it is believed that blaze started in the feed room. Shenango township firemen were called to the scene, which was discovered by Bill Kildoo, who happened to be passing along the road. The house was saved, however.

The manufacture of cigarets in the United States began about 1864, in which year 19,770,000 cigarets were made. Apparently they did not take well, for in 1869 the number of cigarets manufactured was only 1,750,000. However, since that time the annual output has increased rapidly, the total number of cigarets now being approximately 80 billion annually.

Rural Residents Urged To Secure Supply Of Stamps

Co-operation Of Rural Patrons Will Help With Christmas Rush

In view of the fact that Christmas mailing will be started within a short time, the Mahoningtown post office officials today stated that rural patrons may aid greatly this year in keeping the great volume of mail moving without delay.

Residents of rural routes have been urged to contemplate the amount of mail they will send out and purchase, in advance, the number of stamps that will be needed. Thus when the cards and packages are placed in the rural mail boxes to be collected by the carrier they will have sufficient postage on them and will not be delayed while the rural carrier purchases and affixes stamps to them.

According to Mrs. Rose Simonis, Resident Director of the Center, the girls will be on hand during the day to take visitors on an inspection tour of the entire building.

While the regular day's routine will be carried out by the residents of the Center, special demonstrations will be staged for the benefit of the visitors.

At present there are 30 girls at the Center and here they gain experience along many lines. Office work, waitress and inn management, cooking, housework, sewing and recreational activities, make up the daily routine for the group.

GRANDSON OF LOCAL WOMAN IS KILLED

Funeral services were held this morning from St. John's Catholic church at Coylesville, Jefferson county, for Herman Joseph Bono, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bono of Buffalo Valley, Jefferson county, who was fatally injured last Monday night at Edgewood, near Kittanning.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Boston College And Georgetown Game Is Headliner Of Week

Boston College Picked By Carver To Win Important Eastern Game

Minnesota Will Meet Purdue And Move Closer To Big Ten Title

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Certain elimination from among the ranks of the major football teams with perfect records awaits at least one of two clubs—Boston college and Georgetown. In one of the outstanding battles of the year they pit their unsullied records, their great lines and fine backfields against each other Saturday on Boston's gridiron . The New England team has been established as the favorite by a slight edge.

Thus we will string along with the odds on this one and, right or wrong, pick the Eagles to come out of the game still headed for the headlines that will come out of the post-season bowls.

Actually the game is another of those virtual toss-ups on paper. Such experts as the coaches of rival teams are in vehement disagreement over the probable outcome, and agree unanimously on just one point, viz: That the game has everything to make it a bruising and tense spectacle. Georgetown, among other things, is in the midst of its third straight unbeaten season.

Getting away from that one and moving on down the line, the rest of the day's slate shapes up (we hope) approximately as follows:

East

Navy over Columbia, Manhattan over Villanova, Penn over Army (winner of just one game so far), Brown and Harvard a tossup, Cornell over Dartmouth (but no walkaway), Princeton over Yale (despite the suspension of Princeton senior ends Longstreth and Aubrey), Penn State over New York U, Temple over Holy Cross. Nebraska over Pittsburgh, unbeaten Lafayette over Western Maryland and Syracuse over Colgate.

The eastern leaders among the foregoing are Cornell and Lafayette, not mentioning Boston college and Georgetown again.

Mid-West

Minnesota, which beat Michigan last week, will move to within a single game of clinching the Big Ten title by beating the unimpressive Purdue eleven, which blew one to Fordham . Notre Dame should take Iowa, Michigan's chances against Northwestern will depend upon whether Tommy Harmon has recovered from his leg injury, Indiana figures over Wisconsin, and Ohio State over Illinois in a probable tough one.

With Nebraska playing outside the Big Six, second place Oklahoma and third place Missouri will meet in the headliner, with the latter favored.

Also, Kansas State figures over Iowa State and Michigan State over Marquette.

South

Tennessee, Mississippi and Mississippi State of the Southeastern conference top flight play breathers, while in the Southern circuit Duke and Clemson, co-leaders, play North Carolina and Southwestern. Hence Duke alone can better itself and probably will by trimming the Tarheels. In other tilts, Auburn figures over Louisiana State, Tulane over Georgia, Alabama over Georgia Tech, and Kentucky over West Virginia.

Southwest

Texas A. & M. gets another test in its race toward another perfect season and the Southwest title, but figures over Rice, while Texas figures over Texas Christian and Southern Methodist over Arkansas.

Far West

Stanford, like the Texas Aggies, also faces another tough foe, but you've got to go along with the Indians over Oregon State, and regard the rest as toss-ups, with edges for California over Oregon, Washington over Southern California, Washington State over U. C. L. A., and Santa Clara over St. Mary's, with all eyes, of course, on Stanford.

The Indians apparently are headed for the coast title and the Rose Bowl.

Zivic-Davis Battle Friday

Welterweight Champion Expected To Defeat Al Davis In New York Ring

By HYPE IGOE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — Fritzie Zivic, welterweight champion of the world, is always on the lookout for a certain "good omen" whenever he is in training for an important fight.

If he splits one of his fast punching bags or rips it off the swivel from which the bag is suspended, he claims, he always wins the coming fight with a knockout.

Things look blue for Al Davis in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night if the "good omen" runs true to form, because Zivic has torn a bag from its moorings while preparing for this fight.

Hits Bag Hard

He hit the bag so hard the other day that the threads on the metal fastener were pulled out, evidence that there had been terrific force behind the right hander which had broken the bag way from its ball-bearing anchor.

"I never fail to score a knockout with an omen like that," Zivic said today.

"It has become a knockout charm. I'm not superstitutious. It just happens that when I damage one of my small bags, either by splitting it or pulling it out by the roots, I win with a kayo.

"Ring up my name to win with a knockout right now. It's in. The little good omen never has failed me."

Seek Tenth Win At Warren, Ohio

New Castle High To Ring Down Curtain In Ohio City Saturday Afternoon

NO CHANGES IN STARTING LINEUP

New Castle High school "Red Hurricane" football team will strive desperately for its tenth victory of the year at Warren, Ohio on Saturday afternoon. The locals are closing a most enviable record. The kickoff at Warren is slated for 2 o'clock.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh after an hour of tough scrimmage yesterday afternoon announced that there would not be any changes in the starting lineup. The team that started the Campbell game last Friday gets the nod again.

Presidents May Surprise

New Castle is not going to Warren looking for anything soft, far from it, true Warren has won five and lost four, but those four was to teams of this type—Massillon, Canton, McKinley, Campbell Memorial and Erie Academy. The Presidents are going to be plenty tough to lick in their own backyard.

The Warrens have scouted New Castle strong this season. They would like nothing better than to avenge the 7 to 0 defeat pasted on them here at Taggart Stadium last season. In fact Warren hasn't defeated New Castle since 1938 when the tally was 13 to 0. New Castle won four, lost one and tied one with Warren in the series started six years ago.

Tickets for the Warren game can be obtained at the Sporting Goods Store at their North Mercer street location. The New Castle team will leave Saturday morning at 11:30 from the stadium.

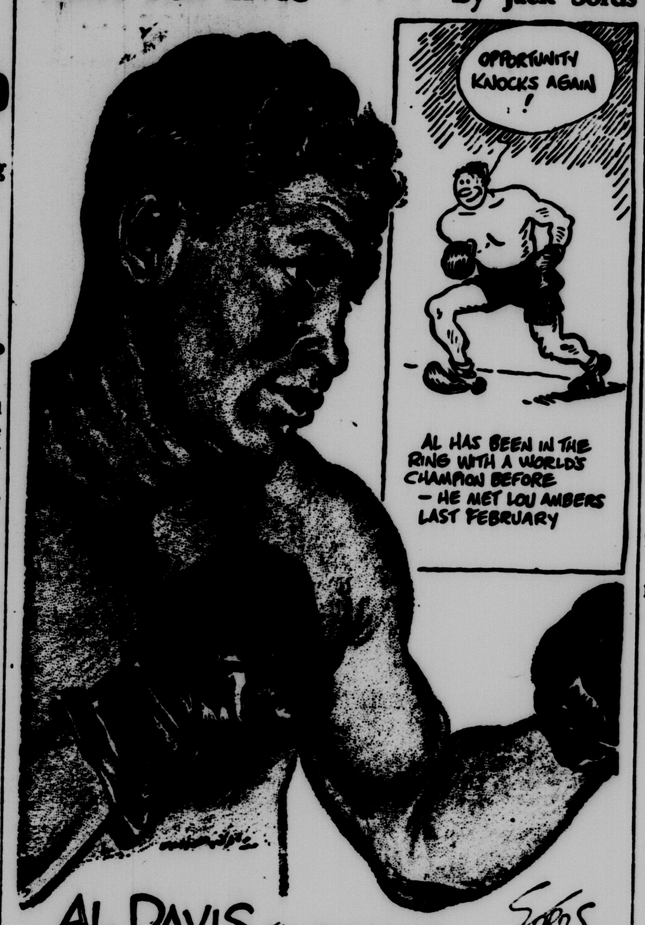
New Castle High Wins Rifle Shoot

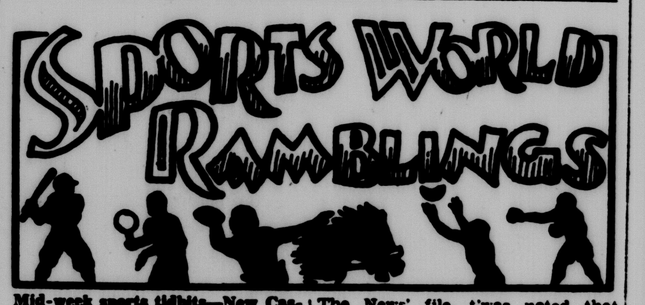
The New Castle High girls and boys rifle club shot a return match at Ellwood City on Wednesday night with the Sons of American Legion team and was victorious 473 to 464. High for the match was Greenwood of Ellwood with a 99 string.

The results—New Castle High—T. Elliott 96, B. Eakin 95, Irene Galant 94, B. Sowash 94, B. Fisher 94. Total 473. Other New Castle High scores—McConnell 87, R. Rumbaugh 91, J. Foster 80, J. Tribbey 74, E. Jones 86, H. Silverman 81, Betty Ward 93, Gregor 79, J. Gardner 93, L. Evans, 70, P. Ferver 88, Betty Williams 86, R. McEwen 78, E. Wilkison 84, V. Donaldson 71, E. Johnson 84, G. Williams 91, C. Norris 87, E. Kegg 87.

Ellwood City—C. E. Greenwood 99, C. Bower 95, Clarence Greenwood 91, B. Griffen 91, P. McElwain 88. Total 464. Other Ellwood scores—G. Plank 76, Bisceglia 82, Dunning 88, MacMurdo 71, Stamm 88.

NEXT FOR ZIVIC . . . By Jack Sords





Mid-week sports tidbits—New Castle High may not meet any Ohio elevens in 1941. The shift may come about as the result of the 19-year age ruling which becomes effective in the P.I.A.A. next season. In Ohio, the 20-year ruling exists. The change would mean the removal of such perennial foes as Youngstown East and Warren, Ohio from the local card. . . .

New Castle's 1941 grid menu will likely include Butler, Grove City, Beaver Falls, Sharon, Washington and McKeesport. Johnstown, Warren, Campbell, Youngstown East and John Adams (Cleveland) may all be dropped. 'Tis rumored that the "Canes" may face Farrell next season. The Mercer Countians, annually a big wig in scholastic circles, would enhance the local cards.

Johnstown High's refusal to finish the Altoona game last Saturday afternoon may net the Johnnies a suspension, this corner was informed yesterday morning. . . Massillon High's supremacy on the gridiron dates back to 1923. In looking over The News' file, t'was noted that the Tigers recorded a 94-0 victory over North High, Saturday, November 20, 1923. . . .

Paul Christman is the "master passer" of the collegiate ranks. The Missouri pegger has rifled 119 forwards in the first seven games. No less than 59 has been completed for a gain of 923 yards or an average of more than 18 yards per pitch. Christman's tosses have resulted in 11 touchdowns to date. Christmas was hampered at the start of the season by a leg injury. He has fully recovered and figures to hit his stride in the remaining Missouri clashes. . . .

Slippery Rock ends its 1940 grid season at Beaver Falls, Saturday, opposing Geneva College. . . . Punting may decide the Stanford-Oregon State clash Saturday. State has one of the best booters in the business in big Jim Kisselburgh. Stories trickling out of Palo Alto state that Norman Standlee, Stanford ace, is on the sidelines. . . .

Ohio State will be in top condition for the coming battle with Illinois . . . Ditto for Notre Dame against Iowa. . . . The Texas Aggies have had unusually fine success against Rice elevens. Since the rivals started matching football wits back in 1914, the Aggies rolled up 17 victories against five setbacks. Only two clashes have ended in deadlocks.

SHORT SPORTS

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Captain Chester Aubuchon of the Michigan State College basketball team, who was dangerously ill for several weeks this summer with a general infection, is now on the road to recovery. There is no prospect that he will play basketball next season. Aubuchon led the Spartans in scoring last year.

NEW YORK—No woman in the world, be she a Hollywood oomph artist, a Broadway stage star or an ordinary housewife, takes more interest in her weight than Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, takes in his.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Wilbur VanLenten, sub Penn State end, scored a touchdown the first time he had his hands on the ball in a varsity game. He scored against South Carolina on an end around play.

PARK CITY, Utah—For the first time in history, the great silver, lead and zinc mines of Park City shut down this year, all because some 1,200 miners want to go deer hunting.

When Notre Dame started its 78-yard march to the touchdown that beat Navy, 13 to 7, at Baltimore, Quarterback Bob Hargrave thought the score was 7-all. Actually Notre Dame trailed, 7 to 6. But Hargrave made no quarterbacking mistakes.

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Jimmy Fritchman, star Moravian halfback from Freemansburg, always inspects his teammates' inner socks before a game to be sure they're being worn inside out—for good luck.

Sportsman's Council Will Meet Friday

W. B. A. Review Rally Is Most Successful

Many Guests Attend Affair High-Lighted By Banquet At Reformed Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 14.—With associate members attending from Aliquippa, Butler, Beaver Falls, Greenville and New Castle, the senior W. B. A. Review held a most successful rally in this city on Wednesday afternoon and evening highlighted by a banquet at the Immanuel Reformed church.

Mrs. Mary T. Hardwick of Wilkes-Barre, state field director, was unable to attend because of illness so the session was conducted by special deputy, Mrs. Ethel B. Thomas of New Castle.

About 100 members and guests attended the banquet with the favors being in the form of individual corsages. Fall flowers decorated the tables. Mrs. Pansy Johnston presided as toastmistress with an invocation being offered by Mrs. Minnie Anderson. Mrs. Thomas extended greetings.

Mrs. Forsythe In Chicago Blizzard

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 14—Those that read about the Armistice Day blizzard in Chicago thought it must have been severe but to Mrs. P. B. Forsythe, of Park avenue, who was in the mid-western city when the storm broke, it was a terrifying experience.

Mrs. Forsythe, who was visiting in Chicago with friends, was in the downtown section. Mrs. Forsythe, in describing her experience, said that the day was clear and at 11 o'clock when the Armistice Day parade began the temperature stood at 74 degrees. At 11:15 o'clock the city suddenly was swept with a seventy mile an hour gale, that left terrible destruction and damage in its wake.

Friday night in Cleveland, Jimmie Bivins the Cleveland knock-em-outer, will take on a Greek fighter named Anton Christoforidis. The latter knocked out Jimmie Reeves, a well thought of Clevelander recently. Some fight experts believe that it will not be long until Bivins is in the First Row of Middleweights and the Greek boy has been picked to test him thoroughly.

Russell Baxter made a hit in Youngstown last night when he decisioned Nick Delmark in three rounds. Guido Feligenza defeated Jimmie Cordova in three rounds and Sonny Horne of Niles won over Frankie Genaro in three sensational rounds.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Several folks and one organization have called in and asked if it would be possible to arrange a football game for Thanksgiving Day . . . this is not our job but being interested made an inquiry as to the possibility of such a game. According to a report we have just received from the High School . . . we find that no post-season game can be played unless the W. P. I. A. L. board gives their O. K. . . . so unless those in charge of our local team think it worth while to take the proposition up with that board . . . there is no chance for a Thanksgiving Day game.

If you really want to enjoy an evening . . . an evening that will not be wasted . . . then you should plan on attending the show that will be held at the Cathedral this coming Saturday evening . . . H. R. Knickerbocker, war correspondent, just fresh from the battle fields . . . the extraordinary speaker will make your hair stand up with tales about what is going on today across the water . . . the program is under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . and remember it's not every day that you have the pleasure of hearing a Pulitzer Prize Winner in New Castle . . . get your tickets now from the following: Fleming Music Store, Jack Gerson's, Love & Megown's, City Treasurer's Office and the Junior Chamber Office or from any member of the Junior Chamber . . . see you Saturday night.

It is a fact that people regconized that one could shop cheaper at home as far back as 1869 . . . here's how you figure shopping out of town. After you have returned home, sum up your traveling expenses, add to the cost of your goods and see how you come out. Today as in 1869 it is more economical to shop in New Castle.

Miss Marilon Fraser of 408 Florence Ave., Phone 5141 has a dog she would like to give away. It is a female, about five months old, black and white spots and a mixture of spitz and rat terrier . . . very friendly and loves children. Call at once.

We are very much in favor of safe winter driving . . . winter as we all know is a hard time of year to drive . . . but if you have your car properly fixed for winter you are reducing the hazards a great deal. Stalled cars and cars that won't start make more hazards than anything else . . . don't be a cause of an accident.

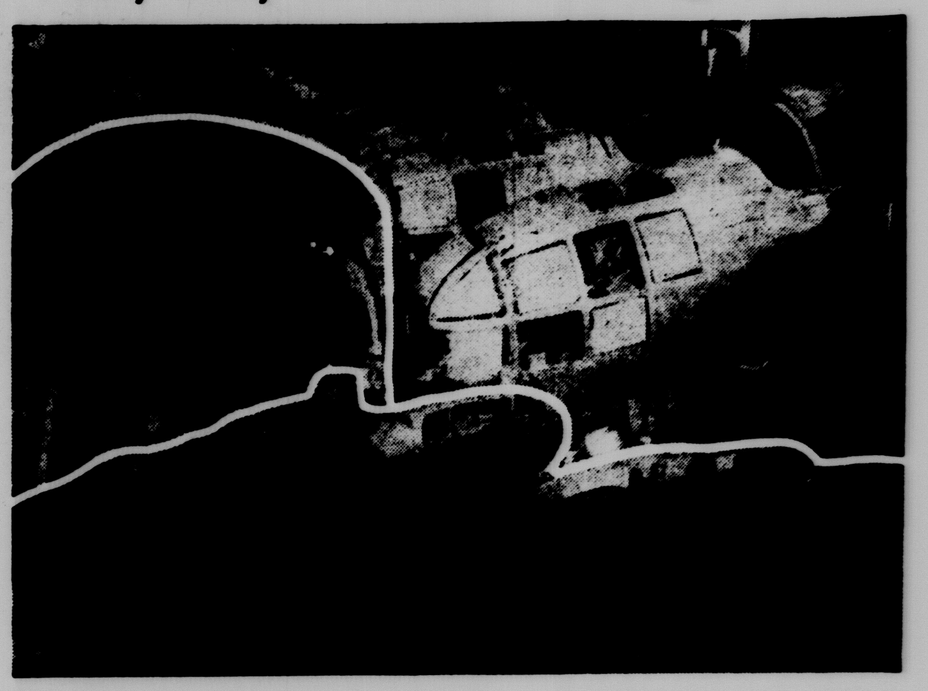
Frozen to Death in Great Lakes Blizzard

C. P. Phonephoto

Two hunters who perished in the worst storm to sweep the Great Lakes region in many years are pictured as they were found on a small island in northern Minnesota, where they were marooned by the blizzard. They are Melville H. Roberts, 42, and Carl O. Iverson, 41, both of St. Paul. Coast Guard rescue workers expressed fear that at least 65 hunters and seamen had been similarly killed.

Nearly Ready for America's Growing Air Fleet



These pictures indicate how production of war planes for American and British defense is being speeded up at the Glenn L. Lower, Martin 167-F bomber engine controls are checked. The planes still are without their wings. Insert, mechanics install the intricate control system. (Central Press)

School Board Is Informed Price Of Coal Is Higher

Other Routine Matters Come Before Board At Meeting Last Night

New Castle school board is faced with the necessity of paying an increased price for the coal for the schools this year. Notice was received by the board from the Maxwell and Gibson Company Wednesday night at the regular meeting that the Bituminous Bureau had upped the product and that the balance of the contract for school coal would be thirty five cents per ton more.

At the suggestion of Director Clyde M. Whittaker the board will get in touch with the Bituminous Bureau and ascertain what their raise is and the reason, if possible.

James B. Foster appeared before the school board and asked a tax compromise upon the property of the New Castle Milling Company on Valentine street. The property is delinquent in the amount of $5,186.05 taxes plus penalties, etc. of $2436.45. Mr. Foster stated that he has a client who is willing to purchase the property and operate it if the board will agree, along with the city and county officials to a compromise of $3,000 for the tax bill.

The board passed a resolution authorizing Solicitor Charles Young, Director W. Fulton Jackson and Secretary John B. Rechtol to meet with the claimants and work the matter out. Unless a better compromise is worked out the board will oppose the idea.

Later the board went on record as opposing all tax compromises in the future unless the sale price of the property is shown in the offer of compromise.

Belts and pouches to carry music will be purchased for the senior high school band. The board will pay one third of the cost, the Music Council one third and the American Legion one third. The cost of the pouches is $39 per dozen and about ten dozen will be needed.

Bids for 200 gallons of floor wax were held over for one month until prices could be checked.

Still we haven't learned. We are arming, but does anybody believe we are arming as desperately as we would if war had begun?
